

UNDERSTANDING AUTISM

Hey there, awesome friends! This pamphlet is here to help you learn more about Autism, a super cool way that some people's brains work differently. Let's explore and celebrate our differences together!

Autism is a unique way of thinking and seeing the world.

Just like how everyone has their favorite color, some friends might see, hear, or feel things differently.

That's what makes each of us awesome!

Some friends with autism have amazing sensory superpowers. They might be superheroes at hearing, seeing, or feeling things more intensely.

Imagine having superhero senses every day!

Always remember, everyone is different and special in their own way. Let's embrace our unique qualities and make our world a kind, inclusive, and fantastic place for everyone!

Our world is like a big, colorful rainbow with people of all kinds.

Let's celebrate our differences and make our world even more awesome!

People with autism have incredible talents! They might be great artists, musicians, scientists, or even superheroes. What amazing talents do you have?

We can all be supportive sidekicks by being kind, patient, and understanding. If a friend with autism needs some help, we're here to lend a helping hand or a listening ear.

Lots of friends with autism love routines. Routines are like having a super cool schedule that helps them feel comfortable and secure. What's your favorite routine?

Friends with autism may communicate in special ways. Some use words, some use pictures, and some might need a bit more time. Let's learn their magical language together!

Making friends is like collecting treasures. Some friends with autism might need a little extra help or time, but they make the BEST friends. Let's be Friendship Heroes together!
